EXTRACT FROM MR. H. S. BRAHAM'S LETTER TO "THE JAMAICA POST," OCTOBER 14, 1893.

"We hear people all round saying that they do not believe in "Government guaranteeing local enterprise, that it should be done "privately. What a farce! If we want men with capital from "other countries to have confidence in Jamaica, we must not be "afraid to take our share of the risk. Let the members of the "Legislative Council start this guarantee system for all the enter-"prises that are likely to prove prosperous, and to cover any "possible loss to the revenue, introduce a law for "Local Improve-"ment" to be a tax on all lands of 1d per acre, or the tax may be "kept in reserve and only such tax be levied each year as to cover "any loss through the guarantee law. And in 10 years from this "Jamaica would not only supply all her own wants, but would be "able to supply other markets with her overplus products. I claim "this to be the best and safest kind of advertisement as well as the 'cheapest. When we reflect upon all the resources of Jamaica "ready to be developed, if we succeeded in the next 10 years in "only doing half, what a grand country Jamaica would be, and we "would not require any more guaranteeing as people would flock " here fast enough."

Caribbean Sea Fisheries Development Syndicate,

LIMITED, KINGSTON, JAMAICA.

L. D. Baller Eng Mr.

DEAR SIR,

The induction of a Fisheries Industry around this Island must furnish results of a present incalculable character, for besides the utilisation of a dormant and unlimited source of a superior food supply, the gradual reduction and in time possible extinction of a vast sum yearly outflowing, the employment of labour, the production of various side products, the establishment of valuable oyster-beds and increase of the turtle supply, the making use of marine animals hitherto living to waste in our waters, the number and status of the present fishermen will be increased and enhanced and the introduction of outside capital secured whilst the sympathy and interest of foreign capitalists will be drawn to the possibilities and resources of this country.

These are benefits of no trivial importance to the future of the colony; their realisation is within reach, and in the hands of the Government and Legislature.

The public meetings I have addressed demonstrate in no uncertein way that the vox populi is in favour of the development of a fisheries industry and the means we are employing for securing Government support, and the same powerful motor has expressed its confidence in, and desire to support, the intentions and objects of the London Syndicate.

Notwithstanding this strong expression on the part of the public I desire to collect the ideas and sentiments of the very many with whom I have had no opportunity of discussing the subject and advancing its many possibilities and recommendations, and I shall on behalf of the Syndicate and myself, appreciate an expression of your opinion which I trust will be of a favourable nature.

With reference to the granting of a bounty or guarantee of interest for the development of this industry there may become who are opposed to such a course. We are however of opinion that in applying for these concessions we are only doing what is right and may lay claim to considering the importance of the issue, and the precedents afforded by other colonies and countries; and in this we are supported by many prominent and influential West Indian Firms in London, and I may add, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, who has already intimated to this Government that he will sanction a bounty if passed by the Legislative Council.

To keep in the van with other countries for position and bread-winning it is absolutely necessary, to make use of our opportunities, to leave no stone unturned, and of the many and great facilities which this Island offers to enterprise and capital not one can compare with the rich and placid waters washing her shores, and putting aside our duty it is to our interest to claim and make available this inheritance of the sea which as yet our people have never enjoyed.

With reference to the development of our resources I would draw your attention to the enclosed leaflet the subject-matter of which is worthy the consideration of Jamaicans and their well-wishers.

I take the liberty of enclosing a stamped envelope, addressed, for your reply, and to remain

Dear Sir.

Respectfully,

EDWARD M. EARLE.

We trust you will give gove support to

OUR JAMAICA FISHERIES.

The unexpected action of the Legislative Council, tending to retard and stay progression in the development of our Fisheries necessitates an appeal to Jamaicans individually.

Some show of confidence in the efforts and intentions of the English Syndicate, the vast source of food wealth lying within reach, and ourselves is all that is necessary to bring into existence a noble industry with great possibilities.

To this end you are invited to fill in the form attached and return to the undersigned at your earliest possible convenience, and that you will induce your neighbours and friends to follow your good example.

To the Caribbean Sea Fisheries Development Syndicate, Limited.

The future working Company. Registered in London, £1 shares.

The document, of which the attached is a copy, only fell into my hands quite recently. If results such as it shows—100 per cent profit—were obtainable in the troubled times of 100 years ago, what may not be done now with the increased facilities and experience we have at our command, and with a demand probably ten times as great.

Its perusal will it is hoped secure your confidence and support. The cause is a good one and the possibilities are great.

All—great and small—are asked to rally around the effort and as every unit will help towards the development of this industry I trust you will return the form, sent herewith, filled in.

It's a queer and quiet way to ask a question, is n't it, but has Jesus saved you, and sweetened and strengthened your life? If so, praise Him. If not,—I am pleading now,—leave your sin, confess your weakness, and shelter in Christ, "while it is called today," for there is no tomorrow.

The rate of 20 ayear on Wherver is I think begally unposed under tallatites Explaining the matter. Irehon 3 of haw 8 of 1886 controls the question. The present tale for wharves is fixed by the Parochial Board with the sauchoin of the foremor in thing lounist: Every throng birus me the vords to fine a water rate". Saw of opinion that it is competiat for the Board to fee the vale by reason of the valure of the premises as well as by the annual value: I can see nothing in the let to wireale that the rate is to be fixed in proportion to the annual value of the premises: I done to amount on of the statile morealis a contrary hearing. Lee 3: Subsec. 1 provides for a vale payable on Each head of horsekind and horned or other stock, talue here most charly does not buch the question . Laws $ 1868. J. I Especially States that the rate as to certain houses is to formuch in the fi on the annual value, I as to artain This houses a buy sum: Ican find no authority restricting the word tale to so acced in the of on the account value. The pronon flu Board, with the sauchion of the former are or promises cannot be stated to be is much agreen. It is a sale though calculated in their way. I am therefore of quies that he Board can enform the special rate of L'20 ayear on Whores. It seems toutful however whether they can inforce payment of 5 a quarks, but as the tall is Suppose payable in advance Meron Bakerolo would not can to take up this position. TABLE D'HOTE.

BREAKFAST, ... 9.30 to 10 o'clock a.m.
LUNCHEON, ... 12 to 1 o'clock Noon.
DINNER, ... 6 to 6.30 o'clock p.m.

ON SUNDAYS, 3.30 o'clock p.m. AFTERNOON TEA (ON SUNDAYS) AT 6.30 O'CLOCK.

LIGHTS OUT AT 11 O'CLOCK P.M.

(1.) Visitors and Boarders are requested to observe, as far as it is possible, the regular hours of table d'hote, for breakfast and dinner, as hot dishes are served up only at these hours. Meals served up at other hours, or in private apartments, are extra, and will be charged for accordingly.

(2.) Visitors arriving and occupying Apartments, are all treated as Daily Boarders for whom covers are to be laid at table d'hote. When these do not desire meals, or when they intend to be absent from table d'hote, they should give timely notification to the Matron or Clerk in attendance, either on arrival or early in the morning prior to marketing for the day, otherwise deductions cannot be made in the current account.

(3.) Meals are only to be served up in private apartments as "Extras," unless for invalids who are charged according to rates for invalids.

(4.) "Attendance" is charged at the rate of Sixpence per day, which rate includes Attendance, the use of Fresh and Salt Water Baths, Bath Towels, and the Cleaning of Boots and minor services.

(5.) Boarders expecting to be out later than eleven o'clock in the evening are respectfully invited to notify the butler, so as to prevent other Boarders being disturbed by knocking outside, at the door or gate, during the night. In all such cases, arrangements will be made for baving a servant or night porter in attendance.

(6.) Boarders remaining for any period less than seven days will be treated in every respect as Daily Boarders. Weekly and Permanent Boarders are charged for Board, whether present or absent, and ample notice must be given of their intention of surrendering apartments. Boarding Bills are rendered and payable weekly.

(7.) Boarders will greatly contribute to their own comfort, and the satisfaction of the Management likewise, if they will communicate (privately) to the Lady Matron any particular dish or dishes to which they are partial, or against which they may possibly have prejudice, as also any irregularity they may notice in the establishment, or the negligence of servants, or in point of fact any inconvenience which Boarders or Visitors experience.

AMERICAN MONTHIS REVIEW REVIEWS 13 ASTOR PLACE

May 15, 1899.

DEAR SIR:

Each year the Review of Reviews Company sends a communication to its subscribers making certain suggestions for the library and reading table. Never before has the opportunity come to make such an important announcement as this letter contains. We refer to the forthcoming history of the war with Spain, Our War in Two Hemispheres (price $5), written by Dr. Albert Shaw, Editor of the "American Monthly Review of Reviews," and author of "Municipal Government in Great Britain," etc., and an imposing list of special contributors.

The scope of this important work can be appreciated after a glance at the inclosed circular. Every American, especially one who had a relative or friend at the front. will wish to add this standard history of the war and the conditions which preceded and followed it, to his library. It is illustrated in rare profusion, with valuable portraits, maps, and war scenes, over five hundred pictures in all. The important public documents, reports, and debates are quoted from freely to enhance its reference value, and the narrative of events is given by Dr. Shaw with the impartiality and vivid force that readers have so often commended in his monthly "Progress of the World" in this magazine. The binding, type-work, paper, and all the accessories of these volumes make them worthy of their subject.

PROPOSITION I.

The price of the first three-volume, half-morocco edition of this work was $14; of a second edition in two large volumes, hand somely bound in cloth, $5. We will send the two volume edition free, postpaid, to any subscriber who, in renewing his subscription to this magazine, sends the name of a new subscriber, with the regular subscription price of $2.50.

PROPOSITION II.

If it is inconvenient to forward a new subscription, we will offer you the work postpaid, if in renewing your subscription you remit $4.50, instead of $2.50; you will thereby effect a saving of no less than $3.00 on the combined price of the history and the subscription to the magazine. This extraordinarily liberal proposition is possible because the history has been primarily edited, written, and published for the use of our subscribers.

The volumes are not ready to be delivered yet. We are making these offers alone to our subscribers in order that they may engage sets now, to be delivered to them next month, and one reason for our making such a radically low price is that the order shall be in advance.

Kindly use the blanks in remitting. Your present subscription terminates with the June issue.

Yours truly,

THE MERCHANT AND HIGH SCHOOL BOY.

A graduate of one of our noted High Schools applies to a gentleman in the Commission business for a position in his store, whereupon the following questions and answers occur:—

Merchant.—"Well, young man, I understand you are an applicant for the position I advertised as vacant in my store."

High School Boy .- "Yes, sir."

Merchant.—"I presume, then, that you come prepared to work hard and faithfully in the interest of your employer, work up by degrees, and at the proper time become a thorough business man and have a business of your own."

High School Boy .- "Yes, sir, such are my plans."

Merchant .- "What advantages have you had in the way of schooling?"

High School Boy.—"I graduated from the Grammar School at the age of fourteen, and during the past four years attended the High School, from which I graduated recently." Merchant .- "Have you any knowledge of accounts?"

High School Boy .- "No, sir, they do not teach book-keeping in the High School."

Merchant.—"Here is a note due to-day, upon which I was calculating the interest when you came in. You will see it has several payments endorsed on its back. Will you take a pencil and figure the amount due to-day for me?"

High School Boy.—"I am afraid, sir, that I could not do it, as we did not study arithmetic in the High School. The teacher said we finished it in the Grammar School, and it is so long a time since I have studied it that I have forgotten nearly all I knew about it."

Merchant.—"Will you take a pen and write the address of our firm on this envelope?"

High School Boy.—"I would rather not try, sir. While at the High School we had no instruction in writing, and I had so many exercises to copy that I was obliged to write very fast, and do it all with a pencil, so I do not write nearly as well as when I left the Grammar School."

Merchant.—"We have a great variety of goods in our store, and our young men must have the ability to spell correctly. Are you a good speller?"

High School Boy.—"I can't say, sir, that I am. I did not have any exercises in spelling in the High School, and I dou't know how I should do."

Merchant.—"Here are some papers,—a Note, Draft, Bill of Sale, Invoice, Account Sales, Check, Lease, Deed, Policy, Mortgage, and a Letter of Credit. Will you look them over and name each as you hand them back to me?"

High School Boy .- "Really, sir, I have never seen such papers before, and I could not distinguish one from the other."

Merchant.—"Well, young man, what did you last study in the High School?"

High School Boy.—"Chemistry, Natural History and French."

Merchant.—"Oh! well, let me see, you had better apply to my friends — —, in the drug business. Your knowledge of Chemistry would probably fit you for their line of business."

High School Boy.—"I fear, sir, that I do not understand Chemistry well enough to make my knowledge of any value in business. I only studied it because it was one of the studies of the school; I took but little interest in it, and therefore do not know much about it."

" Merchant.—"You say you studied French?"

High School Boy .- "Yes, sir."

Merchant,—"If you understand French, some position in a Foreign Importing House would be more suitable. There you could be useful, as your knowledge of French would enable you to speak and correspond with foreign customers."

High School Boy.—"I did not learn, sir, to speak the language; it was mostly translations that we did. I do not think, sir, that I am competent enough to be trusted with such duties."

Merchant,-" What other branches did you study at the High School?"

High School Boy.—"Algebra, English Literature, Physiology, Ancient History, Rhetoric, Philosophy, Astronomy, Geometry, Trigonometry, Moral Philosophy, Civil Government, and, as I said before, French, Natural History and Chemistry."

Merchant.—"And you have not studied Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, Spelling or Grammar since you were fourteen years of age?"

High School Boy.—"No, sir, I finished those in the Grammar School, so my teachers said, and I have my diploma from the school officers as proof of it."

Merchant.—"I am afraid, young man, that your qualifications are not suitable for the position which I advertised to fill. I want a young man to begin with us who can make himself generally useful at first, and rise as opportunities occur, and he proves himself worthy. I must have a party who writes quickly and well,—this is an indispensable qualification with the young men in our store. The ability to figure rapidly and accurately is also indispensable. We often have to do a great amount of work in a very short time, and any person who is slow or inaccurate would not do at all. I would much prefer a young man who has a good, sound English education and some knowledge of accounts, who has been schooled in regard to business forms and practices, one who can write a business letter, average accounts, figure interest, make bills and perform the simple duties in the counting-room; such a young man I would do well by, and if he proved reliable, industrious and willing, I could soon provide a very desirable place for him. I would gladly assist you in finding a place, and if I hear of one for which your qualifications adapt you I will let you know."

Thoughtful people will do well to consider the experience of the High School Boy, as previously related. The story explains itself, and shows more plainly than argument, how positively useless is a system of education that leaves a boy at the age of eighteen, who has been regularly at school for twelve years, neither a good writer, speller or mathematician, in fact without any education whereby he can step out into the world and earn his living.

The writer has been an carnest and, he trusts, an enterprising worker in the cause of education during the past fifteen years, and in organizing and building up the Bryant & Stratton Commercial School, of which he is the principal, has had valuable assistance from a large number of experienced teachers, who, with him, have constantly studied the needs and wishes of the most intelligent and enterprising citizens of the community concerning the education of their children; and the remarkable success of this school in developing a new and popular mode of training for business has exceeded the expectations of all interested, and is to-day attracting the attention and patronage of prominent educators and business men throughout the United States, who recognize the great importance of a sound English Education as the true basis of permanent advancement. In fact no system was ever more heartily and thoroughly endorsed. The Bryant & Stratton Commercial School is now generally admitted to be the only school which combines successfully a thorough course in the English branches, consisting of regular class drill, in connection with the valuable system of business training in its several Commercial Departments.

If you have any thoughts of pursuing a course of business training preparatory to entering upon the duties of Commercial life, I should be pleased to hear from you; and if you will embody in your letter answers to the following questions, I will immediately advise you as to the probable expense:—

1st. - What is your age?

2d. - What school advantages have you had?

3d. - Do you wish to board in the city, or will you purchase a scholar's ticket and return home daily?

Hoping to hear from you at no distant date, I remain,

Very respectfully yours,

H. E. HIBBARD, Principal.

Bible House, New York City.

Dear Friend:

We take pleasure in sending you herewith the genuine Oxford Teacher's Bible mentioned in our advertisement. We have placed your name on our subscription list and the paper will be sent to you regularly from this date.

Our past experience fully satisfies us that, where once it secures a footing, the CHRISTIAN HERALD is well able to hold its own, hence we are exceedingly anxious to introduce it into as many Christian homes as possible. It is this which has induced us to offer a premium which, in value, beauty and usefulness excels any premium ever before offered by any paper for one subscription, and we know that as you look at it, you will confess that it is all that we have promised and all that you had expected.

May we ask you to secure for us just one more subscriber on the same terms and with the same advantages? By so doing you will confer a favor on the person whom you secure, be doing a good work, and at the same time greatly oblige,

Yours very sincerely,

LOUIS KLOPSCH, Proprietor.

If you are pleased with the Bible kindly write us so, and tell your friends about it.
